Smartserve

Problem Statement

Many people spend a large amount of time working, and not attending to their errands and other minor responsibilities. This has a detrimental effect on their lifestyle. How can we solve this using technology?
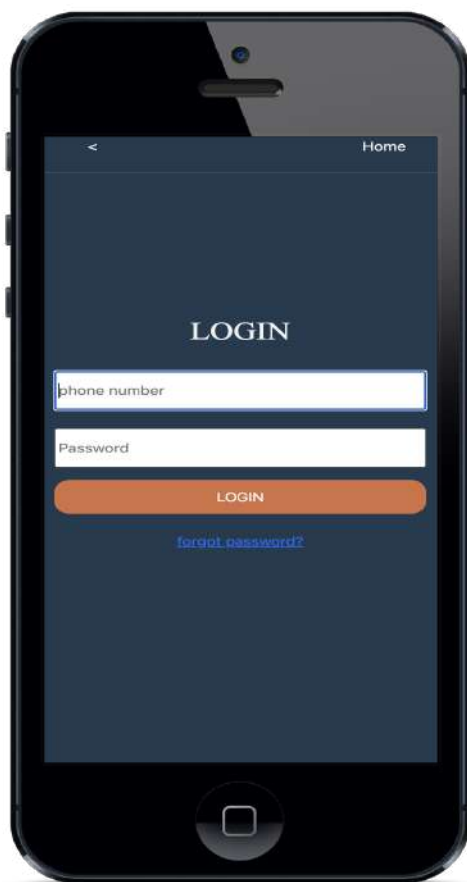

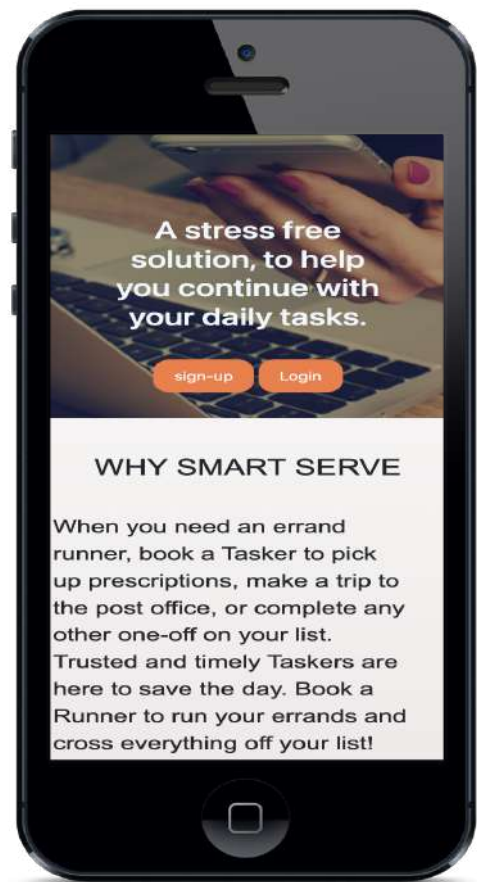

Solution

Smartserve allows service providers to post micro-tasks for errands. Runners can be able to pick up those tasks and errands on behalf of service providers, thus getting remuneration for their errands on behalf of service providers.

Landing Page

New users to the application are required to create a new account by signing up and existing Users can simply Login to access the application.

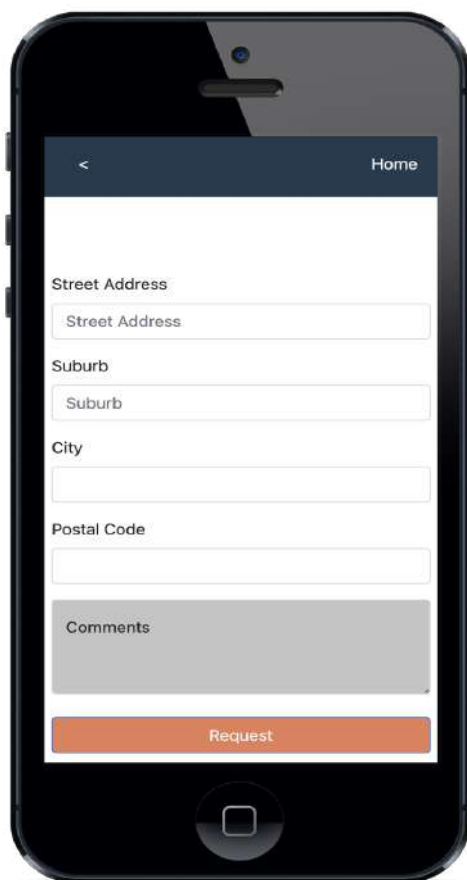

A stress free solution, to help you continue with your daily tasks.
